On 13th July, 2018 a seminar on Youth Employability Skill Program was conducted by Neha Anand who is a trained counselling Psychologist, a Certified Trainer in Managing training for person with learning disabilities and also has 10 years work experience as a special aid teacher at Billabong High International School. The 3 hrs seminar was conducted in the College Auditorium which was attended by Second year and Third year students of Self Finance Course (BAF/BBI/BMS). The seminar was to introduce Youth Employability Skill Program. The program will be held to improve soft skills of students and help them achieve their goals.

The seminar commenced with introduction of speakers of the seminar. After the introduction, Ms. Andrea conducted an interactive session with the students regarding qualities required to crack an interview during placements. She also covered various areas on basis of which an Interviewer assesses a candidate during an interview. Ms. Neha, with the help of statistics, threw light on number of students placed in various companies and how the program helped those students to achieve their goals. Finally Ms. Aishwarya helped with distribution and filling of application forms among Third year students to collect their personal details, educational qualification, work experience, career goals and declaration to get a better understanding of the students and their area of Interest. This was followed by a formal vote of thanks and conclusion of the seminar.

The seminar ended with a very positive response from students and willingness to attend such seminars in future so as to improve their skills and achieve their goals.

21/07/2018: PRIZE DISTRIBUTION

Incharge: Prof. Priyanka Yadav

Participation is the first step towards the success. Every year there are a lot of events that are being held in the self-finance department. With so much of competition only the best wins and to acknowledge these best students prize distribution function for the year 2017-18 was held on 21st July,2018 in the college auditorium.

The motive was to appreciate and acknowledge various talents which are different yet unique. The event initiated with lighting of lamp by the dignitaries, which was followed by giving the prize money to the students who have indeed worked hard on making their 'Black Book Research Project'. The second section of the event was dedicated to those students who have actively participated in the cultural events held during the year which included events like card making competition, rangoli, mehendi etc. Students were given trophies and certificates.

The last section of the event was specially organized to appreciate the winners of talent show. Talent show occupies a special place in the cultural activity as it an event put up by the students for the students where, not only a personality of the students grow but they get a kind of confidence to execute all the concepts learnt in their management class. This event was a success story as it only motivated people who participated but also those who had a talent but were hesitant to share it with the audience.

23/07/18: ORIENTATION AND SCREENING PROCESS FOR THE PLACEMENT CYCLE

Incharge: Prof. Ankita Mehta

Employability is the key concern and one of the major criteria in determining a student's success ratio. Market is dynamic in nature and demands multiple skills in order to hire a candidate that suits best for the work profile. This is not it, as with skills and opportunity comes competition. It is essential to cut through and have an edge over others. Only the best guidance would help students to sail through this competitive sea. Seminar was conducted on 23.07.2018.

Fast Air and Sea travels manpower consultants helped to advise our students regarding various opportunities and openings in the market. They are the ideal choice of leading companies who wish to recruit professional human resource from India. Aakash Mahalkari (HR Manager) initiated with the session by giving them brief idea about the current market conditions, job profiles available and the skill sets with the knowledge bank required to justify these job profiles. Also one-to-one interviews were taken screening each individual on the basis of their interest, subject knowledge and various other factors. The classification was done on functional basis of the organization where the opportunity was available and also on specialization subject of the candidate. They emphasized on personality development and market knowledge.

The session proved to be very useful for the students, who were presently studying in their third years and also for alumni students who were in search of guidance and direction from the industry expert. Few profiles that they offered were in the field of sales and customer service for the sectors of tourism, education, banking, and forex exchange.

27/07/2018: GURUPURNIMA PROGRAMME

Incharge: Prof. Priyanka Yadav

A Guru is the one who teaches life lesson. A guru is far greater than a teacher because a teacher only teaches what is there in books but a guru teaches the secrets of life and takes us to the path of glory. Respecting is the greatest gift that a Guru deserves but acknowledging the hard work is also equally significant as a guru puts in his heart and soul for his disciplines development.

The event of Gurupurnima was organized by the students of self-finance department and was celebrated with great enthusiasm on 27th July, 2018. The event began with lighting of the lamp by the dignitaries. Hon. Principal Dr. M.S Kurhade initiated the event by sharing his words of wisdom followed by the speech of co-ordinator sir. It was an event to be remembered as students narrated their respect and love for their 'GURUS' with the help of poem, speech and personal experiences. Students also performed a dance giving a beautiful message to the audience on significant changes that 'GURUS' have brought in their life. The winners of the card making competitions (Gurupurnima themed) were announced which was held on the previous day. The competition was just a way of expressing their gratitude towards the professors with their creativity. Various games were organized by the students and they made sure teachers also actively participated in it.

Event concluded where teachers thanked students for the initiatives and hard work taken by them.

13/08/2018: FRIENDSHIP'S DAY

Incharge: Prof. Priyanka Yadav

Most people come together to celebrate friendship's day with their friends. On 13th August, 2018 students from all classes of self finance department (BAF/BBI/BMS) celebrated friendship's day by decorating the class and participating in various games arranged for the students by the professors.

Friendship's day celebration started from 10:00 am with classroom decoration competition. Every class of BAF/BMS/BBI decorated their own classroom within time limit of 45 minutes. The decorated classrooms were then judged by Prof. Kavita Juikar, Prof. Bhavna Jain and Prof. Dinesh Chauhan wherein, TYBBI secured 1st prize, SYBBI secured 2nd prize and FYBAF and SYBAF secured 3rd prize.

The classrooms were decorated using balloons, flowers, candles, cut-outs, collage of students etc. Students also exchanged chocolates and cut cake. Students of TYBBI performed a small and beautiful skit depicting the importance of friendship in everyone's life and how friendship is a bond which is beyond any religion, caste and creed.

Class decoration competition was followed by games for students organised by Professors. It was a fun filled activity for refreshment of students. The celebration and activities ended at 12:00 noon with a stronger bond of friendship and better sense of co-ordination among students.
